

Apex Enterprise Employee Handbook

SYNTHETIC SAMPLE DOCUMENT - FOR ACADEMIC RAG DEMONSTRATION ONLY

1. Welcome & Company Mission

Welcome to Apex Enterprise Technologies. Our mission is to engineer trusted intelligent systems that empower businesses globally. This Employee Handbook establishes our organizational operating principles, rights, responsibilities, and employment terms. Every team member is expected to review, understand, and comply with these policies throughout their tenure.

2. Probation Period and Confirmation

All new hires undergo a standard probation period of 90 calendar days from their effective start date. During probation, employee performance, cultural alignment, and competency will be reviewed at 30, 60, and 90-day intervals. The probation period may be extended once for up to 30 additional days if deemed appropriate by the department director.

Apex Enterprise Employee Handbook (Continued - Page 2)

3. Resignation and Notice Period

Permanent confirmed employees wishing to resign must submit written notice through the enterprise portal. The standard notice period is 30 calendar days for permanent staff, and 60 calendar days for Lead, Manager, and Director positions. During the probation period, the required notice period is 15 calendar days. Early release or payment in lieu of notice requires mutual written agreement between HR, Executive Management, and the departing employee.

4. Performance Appraisal & Career Progression

Formal performance evaluations are conducted bi-annually in June and December. Appraisals follow an OKR (Objectives and Key Results) framework combined with 360-degree peer feedback. Promotions, merit salary increments, and annual bonus distributions are directly tied to documented appraisal scores.

5. Company Property and IT Asset Usage

Laptops, security keys, monitors, and company mobile phones remain the sole property of Apex Enterprise Technologies. All company hardware must be returned in good working condition within 3 business days of an employee's final working day. Personal software installation is prohibited on company-managed devices without explicit approval from IT Security.